Subject: draft Industrial Stormwater General NPDES Permit (ISWGP)

I just want to thank you people for the good work and good intentions. By unfortunate circumstance, I pay dues to an organization called AWB. I belong to the organization so I can get a decent price on my health insurance for my staff.

Friday afternoon AWB sent out to its members some drivel that the world is collapsing because the State is considering making them stop polluting heavy metals into Puget Sound. I just want to state here that they are wrong, small minded and greedy. I am personally embarrassed to think that somewhere there is a list with my name on it.

I have a sense about these forums and how the process flows. So if you are the kid reading this, well, keep at it. Don't think that all the "business people" are like that, especially in Seattle and Puget Sound. A small voice coming from within the mish-mash of emails and letters is saying that you are doing the right thing, that we do need to limit turbidity and heavy metals going into the Sound, and you need to keep going.

With My sincerest regards and best wishes that the work continues,
