

Editing and Accessing Data on the Western Response Resource List (WRRL)

Anyone can access the WRRL at www.wrri.us. On the first screen a user must select whether they are an “editor” (requires a username and password) or a “guest” who can only look at and download records.

Log in as a guest: Click on the button next to “Guests” and then click Login.

Open database "WRRL" with:

Guests (click, then click Login)

WRRL (Western Response Resource List)

Welcome to the Western Response Resource List, an oil spill response equipment database maintained by regional equipment owners and hosted by Genwest Systems, Inc.

Note: Genwest now hosts a web site designed to serve as a "phone book" for response-related data. It is called "Western Response And Planning Index of Databases" (WRAPID). Click on the button to access the web site. Go To WRAPID

About this web site:

- > Best viewed in Windows using Internet Explorer 7; on Macs, Firefox 2.0 or greater. Browser Troubleshooting
- > It is an equipment inventory database maintained by participating response organizations listed below.
- > Equipment listed here may or may not be available at any given time. Check with the listed contact for current availability.

System Status:

- > Burrard Clean Operations changed to Western Canada Marine Response Corp. (WCMRC) Jan. 30, 2012.
- > Group ID field added to database and data export files. Jan. 23, 2012. Tracking Forms updated to include Group ID data. Download New
- > Resource Tracking Sheets modified to show WRRL ID near left side of lists. Feb. 22, 2010.

User Account and Data Access:

- > For read-only access to this database:
 - On the WRRL web site password entry screen, click the "Guest" button and log in.
- > To become a WRRL member:
 - Contact the Genwest site administrator to become a participating member. Send your request to: wrfl@genwest.com

Download the database: From the main page click on “Download”. You will then be given the option to download the current data in a variety of formats. Most people download the database as an excel spreadsheet.

Editing an Existing Record: To edit an existing record click on the record from the equipment list. You may then edit any of the information for that piece of equipment.
