

Hello Jennifer,

I respectfully submit a self-nomination for the Tourism seat of the Washington Coastal Marine Advisory Council.

Currently I am employed as the executive director of the Long Beach Peninsula Visitors Bureau, the regional tourism and destination marketing organization for Pacific County and I regularly attend Pacific County MRC meetings and events. I am a third generation resident of coastal Pacific County and a third generation commercial fisher of Washington, Oregon, and Alaska. I actively participate in tourism marketing for the State of Washington as a board member of Washington State Destination Marketing Organizations and as a member of Washington Tourism Alliance and Seattle Convention and Visitors Bureau. I share these areas of my involvement in order to demonstrate geographic and interest diversity, as well as my experience and abilities in effective collaboration.

Thank you,

Andi Day

SUBJ: ROBERT L. BEEBE, SELF NOMINATION FOR THE WASHINGTON COAST MARINE ADVISORY COUNCIL.

I submit myself for nomination to become a member on the Washington Coast Marine Advisory Council. My address is 1423 Ward Rd, Sequim, WA 98382 and my direct email address is beebe00@gotsky.com.

I would like to represent Clallam County on the advisory council on matters of tourism as well as ocean policy and management issues along the Washington coast. I am a retired Navy Chief (E-7) since 2007 and have extensive knowledge of working and collaborating with others in small and large group settings. While in the Navy, I have visited numerous ports of call and have experienced the many different oceans that were clearly contaminated or, conversely, well maintained waterways.

I am President of Olympic Game Farm (OGF) that exhibits, trains, and educates tourists on exotic and native wildlife through guided lecture tours. OGF has approximately 86,000 (as of Dec 31, 2012) international and domestic visitors each year. OGF has up to 15 permanent and seasonal employees that care for captive bred animals. I also train captive bred wildlife for film and television portrayals and OGF worked exclusively for Walt Disney Studios from 1950's to the 1970's.

My grandparents on my mother's side have long been associated with sport and commercial fishing. As a result, prior to my enlistment in the Navy in 1987, I was a crewmember—in the summers—of a commercial fishing boat based out of Douglas/Juneau, AK for 4 summers. This firsthand experience of ocean and fishing management will provide me with some working knowledge that may very well be discussed at the advisory council meetings.

I am currently a member of the Dungeness River Management Team (DRMT) and already work closely with a myriad of government and special interest groups associated with clean water and fish riparian habitat on the Olympic Peninsula. I believe that would provide a unique insight for the advisory council and for the DRMT as well.

In conclusion, I believe that I am uniquely suited to provide feedback on ocean policy and management issues from a tourism viewpoint. By doing so, I will have gained the wisdom that is provided at the advisory council and that I have aided Washington State.

Thank you,

Robert L. Beebe

RE: Washington Coastal Marine Advisory Council

Dear Ms. Hennessey:

I highly recommend Roy Morris for the tourism seat on the Washington Coastal Marine Advisory Council.

A lifetime resident of Washington State and the Olympic Peninsula for 26 years, Roy will bring a wealth of knowledge and relationships to your Council. In recent years, as a fishing guide and charter boat skipper, he has hosted hundreds of guests to outdoor adventures in our state. As a lifetime educator, he spent a career creating better opportunities for students and adults in several communities, including Clallam Bay, Sekiu, Vancouver, Bellingham, and Everett.

For the last 20 years, Roy has served an array of organizations and committees, always focused on linking people, and enhancing projects to make them more effective. He is the President of the Friends of Hoko River State Park – working to create a historical park and recreational destination for tourists on the north Olympic Peninsula. This will add to the list of important local tourist attractions like the Olympic National Park at Lake Ozette and the Makah Cultural and Research Center.

Roy is the past president Clallam Bay/Sekiu Lions Club and an active member coordinating the Annual Kids Fishing Derby and the West End Straits Beach Clean up. He is a founding member of the Washington Clean Coast Alliance, helping to coordinate the annual Earth Day Beach Clean up (www.coastsavers.org).

As a member of the Olympic Coast National Marine Sanctuary Advisory Board, Streamkeepers, Lake Ozette Sockeye Recovery Advisory Committee, Olympic Peninsula Fly Fishers, and North Pacific Coast Marine Resources Committee, Roy helps link common efforts across multiple agencies and groups.

If appointed, Roy will be an active committee member and contribute valuable knowledge and skills to the Washington Coastal Marine Advisory Council.

Sincerely,

Subject: Recommendation for Roy Morris

Hi Jennifer:

I would like to endorse Roy Morris for the tourism position on the Washington Coastal Marine Advisory Council (WCMAC). I have worked with Roy on multiple committees, both as a colleague and on our MRC for four terms. He has a remarkably varied background in public education (as a former teacher and principal) and natural sciences; having served multiple terms on both Clallam MRC and NPC MRC, Olympic Coast National Marine Sanctuary Advisory Council, the Lake Ozette Sockeye Salmon Steering Committee and several other salmon restoration groups, and he is on the BOD for Coast Savers. After leaving public education he has made a living as a small business in the tourism industry as a charter boat operator and fishing guide -and would appropriately represent the tourism seat from a marine perspective.

As a committee member Roy always stands out as an important voice for reason in discussions and contributes very significant amounts of time behind the scenes to support committee actions. He is a major advocate for public participation, particularly relative to citizen science, and I think would bridge science and small business participation in an effective way for WCMAC.

I highly recommend you give his application serious consideration for this seat.

Sincerely,

Rich Osborne.

I would like to lend my support for the application of Roy Morris for the tourism position on the Washington Coastal Marine Advisory Council.

Roy has a unique blend of academic and practical credentials that would make him a valuable voice at the Council. In addition to the science based approach that Roy brings to issues, as repeatedly demonstrated in the North Pacific Marine Advisory Council. His straight forward analysis has been extremely helpful as well. Roy also has had significant experience with the charter boat operations out of Clallam Bay/Seki that would help bring a small business perspective associated with a tourism activity to the table.

I believe that Roy's application merits the highest consideration by the Department of Ecology for this open seat on the Council.
