Hello,

This is Tom Wimpy at 2619 N Hogan, Spokane, WA.

At the public comment meeting in Spokane, it was discussed that the Discharge Management Plan may not be completely applicable when the size of the treatment is quite small, like the Lake Spokane Canal (3.2 acres). Would it be possible to have threshold or size limit to when the plan needs to be completed or have an abbreviated plan for small areas. Another example that may come up would be individual lot treatments or localized residential treatments on a large lake.

I hope this is the type of question to ask as a comment.

Tom
