Hello Mr. Jennings

As a home owner in Benton City I definitely see the need for control of the mosquitoes. There are lots of irrigations systems, ponds, puddles made and back water from the Yakima River. As you know I'm sure there are many farm animals in Benton City area.

Since living here I have always been able to sit outside in the evenings and basically not worried about being chewed up by mosquitoes. Moving here from Michigan where my situation was bad as far as bugs and control of such. If spraying and control of these and other insects is taken away, in one season we will be eaten up by the mosquitoes. Certainly will take away our enjoyment of the out of doors. Think about the end result of not spraying. There has to be something that can be used and still not cause harm to others.
