Washington State Department of Ecology

Sirs;

Your impending regulation of mosquito spraying in Eastern Washington is not in the public interest and obviously, an endangerment to public health.

The inevitable result of restricting or discouraging spraying, will be additional sickness and death of innocent people. The demography of the Lower Yakima Valley and the Basin indicates the victims will likely be composed of the elderly, the young, minorities, and the rural poor. Suffice to say Ecology would not attempt to impose this regulation in an affluent area such as Bellevue and de-facto discriminates against the disspocessed.

There has not been sufficient opportunity for public input. One public meeting in Moses Lake is not enough considering the possible deaths of the citizenry. I suggest Sunnyside for a public meeting.
