Dear Mr. Rockett--

I write in opposition to the proposal to use imidacloprid to kill ghost and mud shrimp in Willipa Bay and Grays Harbor.

This chemical is completely indiscriminate in nature and will destroy vast quantities of invertebrates. The extent of the damage can never be known.

This chemical is toxic to fish. This chemical is toxic to birds. This chemical is highly toxic in aquatic waters.

There are other means and methods available without using chemical spray.

This proposal to use imidacloprid in these sensitive marine waters needs to be denied.

Sincerely,

Jerry F. Johannes
