We want you to protect people's health and water quality by acknowledging how much fish people eat (175 g/day) and asking them to keep the cancer risk at 1 in 1 million, instead of making it less protective, increasing the risk to 1 in 100,000! Water quality should NEVER be up for debate! Water quality, as well as air and soil quality should always be our top priority above all else. We want growth and development to be totally contingent on first assuring us the amount of water we need is there and that it is safe to drink and clean to swim in! Do not fudge with the numbers to make it look OK. Do the right thing! Louann Chapman Bellingham
